Proposed Revision of the Constitution Considered Yesterday.

ACTION TWO YEARS HENCE

Resolution Adopted Favoring Washington and Mount Vernon Highway-Final Session.

The twenty-first Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution came to a close about 6:30 o'clock last evening, with the dove of peace OFFICE OF THE LANSTON MONOTYPE

MACHINE COMPANY.
PHILADELPHIA. April 10, 1912.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Lanston Monotype Machine Company will be held at the Elks Home, corner Prince and Royal streets. Alexandria, Va., at twelve o'clock noon, on Thursday, the 2d day of May, 1912, for the purpose of electing a board of directors to be the business as may properly come before it.
Transfer books will be closed on April 22d at four o'clock p.m., and will be reopened on May 7th at ten o'clock a.m.

By order of the board of directors.

W. ARTHUR SELLMAN. Secretary.

An ideal Company will be much in evidence. The members sang the doxology, and, a moment later, antidiministrationists as well as administrationists crowded to the stage to bid farewell to Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, president general of the society. Mrs. William Cummings Story, leader of the antis, was among those who bade Mrs. Scott a cordial farewell.

Practically the entire afternoon was spent in consideration of the proposed revision of the constitution and by-laws, as

Miss Janet tine's Canada Malt Ale—a benefit- Richards of the District of Columbia it ing beverage at this season of was who discovered that it would not be possible to act on the revision at the next ongress because the present law provides that no amendments or revision of the constitution shall be made at those congresses when national elections take place. Next year those elections will be held, and final action cannot be taken until the succeeding session. This was very disappointing to many of the Daughters, particularly those who come from distant states, for they were counting on having the constitution changed so that the states could elect the state officers at home instead of in Washing-

Mrs. George W. Hodges, registrar and genealogist of the Baltimore chapter, who is attending the congress, recently made one of the most interesting discoveries of one of the most interesting discoveries of revolutionary records so far brought forward. Many of the old courthouses of Maryland were destroyed by fire and with them perished the most valuable records. These records, by a law passed under King George, and which seemed quite forgotten by historical data hunters, were in duplicate in Annapolis. By the bringing to light of these hitherto unknown records. bringing to light of these hitherto un-known records, Mrs. Hodges was enabled to produce the names of the 7,000 men who signed what was known as "the pa-triots' pledge," in which the signers agreed to support the revolution with their lives and property and to report all conversations treasonable to the cause of liberty. It also gives the names of thou-sands of men in Maryland's first militia, there being 2,800 such names from Kent county alone.

Mrs. Samuel Ammon of Pittsburgh, is described as one whom everybody likes. She has been one of the most active of the patriotic workers in the D. A. R. almost ever since its institution. NAVY YARD MEN AROUSED.

Oppose Meyer Plan of Employing Skilled Mechanics on Shipboard. Leaders of organization of navy yard workers are up in arms against the new policy of Secretary Meyer of employing the skilled mechanics on shipboard to do a large amount of repair work formerly performed by civilian navy yard

It has been found that much money has been saved under the new policy; that the ships have been kept in condition for constant service instead of being laid up at a navy yard for long periods, and finally that the enlisted mechanics on the ships were able to do much better work than the navy yard men by reason of their thorough familiarity with the conditions and needs of the ships.

The department has decided to continue the policy, but has promised the complainants that the ship mechanics shall not deprive them of work by going into the shops.
